Creating Fun, Quality Family Time Over The Holidays

The holidays can often seem to end up a whirlwind of activities, particularly when it comes to staff parties, family events, and other obligations. Finding time to provide quality, fun and engaging family time doesn't have to be a challenge, and there are simple ways that families can be together while enjoying the spirit of the season. To help get started, looking into what is available in your community is a great first step. Many communities have cultural activities, fairs, light displays, holiday parades and other types of activities that are fun and often free of any costs.

If you are wondering what else you can do, why not consider:

Donating your time – as a family, volunteer to work at a community charity in your area. The whole family can help at a food bank, volunteer time at a nursing home, or even help out at the local animal shelter that may be short on volunteers at this time of year.

Go outdoors – just unplug and disconnect for a day as a family and go to a local park or nature area. Plan a hike or try a winter picnic complete with hot chocolate, a bonfire, and hotdogs and s'mores, or even a day on the local hill for sledding. You can also rent skates and go ice skating indoors or outside.

Play some board games – this is a terrific time of year for Mom and Dad or the grandparents to share some favorite board games from their childhood days. Even young children can play as a "team" with an adult, and kids love board games such as Chutes and Ladders, Candyland, Cootie, Hi-Ho Cherry O, Checkers, Monopoly, Clue, Scrabble, and Life.

Children also love to be involved with the holiday baking, meal preparation and decorating. The more you involve the children and spend time together, the more the holidays will become a memorable event for everyone in the family. Have fun!

Parent Reminder

With cooler weather here, please be sure your child has an appropriate change of clothing in their cubby and a jacket every day.

Thank you!

Should the Plano ISD close due to inclement weather, our school will also close. We will announce our closing through the Channel 4 (Fox) morning news by 7:00

If you are not receiving E-mails from RHM, please let us know.
